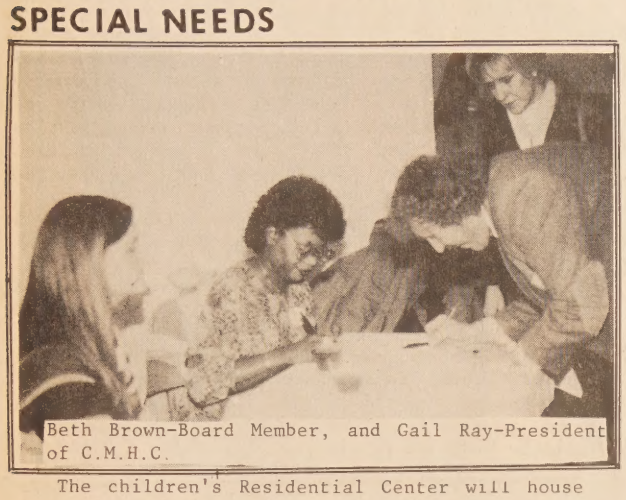
SPECIALIZED HELP FOR SPECIAL NEEDS



Beth Brown-Board Member, and Gail Ray-President of C.M.H.C.

The children's Residential Center will house 10 children from Pierce and Kitsap counties. They will be introduced to a more stable environment enabling them to achieve their fullest potential while participating in an active daily program.

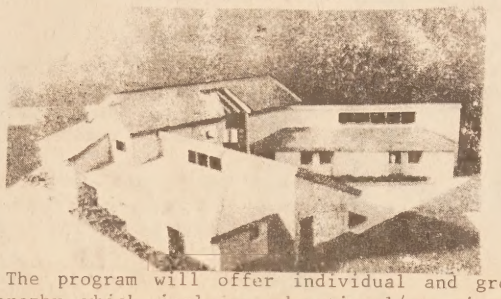
The residency will provide CMHC (Comp. Mental Health Center) with the unique opportunity to grow with these children by developing new methods of treatment.

On Tuesday, November 29, 1983, at about 12:30 p.m.., the Comprehensive Mental Health Center held it Commencement Ceremony for the Children's Resicential Treatment Center

The Honorable Ralph Munro, Secretary of State and speaker for the occasion, was the creator of both Referendums 29 and 37 which provide public funds for construction of facilities to house programs to serve handicapped persons.

Prior to this time, the needs of many severely emotionally disturbed children were unserved, inadequately treated, or forced to find placement in facilities outside the state.

Architect's model of the residential treatment center



The program will offer individual and group theraphy which includes educational/vocational, occupational, and recreational goals

It shall serve as an alternative treatment method as opposed to those used in the past which lacked consistency in their approach.

The Commencement Ceremony featured several faces from Olympia, of them were the Honorable Barbara Garlund, Chair, Senate Institutions Committee who gave a brief salutation to the CMHC staff and those who made it possible.

Representative Ruth Fisher, and Art Wang of the 27th District were present. Wayne Elbers, Speaker of the House, was on hand to join in the momentos occasion.

Verterbrae Out Of Line? See Rody

Rody's Chiropractic Clinic has recently moved to the hilltop and is located at 917 South 10th.

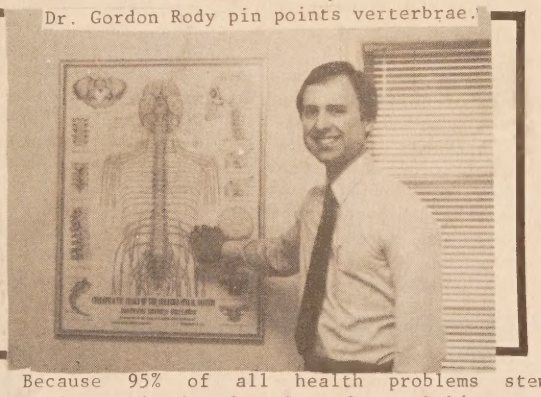
After studies at PLU and 4 years at Oregon's Chiropractic School, Dr. Gordon Rody has returned to practice his profession in the neighborhood where he spent much of his church life, at Faith Temple (next door to his office).

The facility offers an atmosphere that is conducive to warmth and relaxation which perpetuates healing of body and mind. Dr. Rody suggests, "when the body has suffered all the abuse it can handle and can't wait for regular visit, come in for a chiropractic tune-up."

His practice is focused on maintaining people who have suffered inguiries. Helping them to heal sooner; costing them less money. Chiropractic care is the answer to a lot of the out of the pocket expenses.

Based on consultation of health history and exams (often x-rays), a determination is made as to whether the patient can be helped or otherwise referred to a Health Agency. This is where Dr. Rody wishes to build a good relationship with the medical doctors.

Dr. Gordon Rody pin points verterbrae.



Because 95% of all health problems stem from birth and shortly thereafter, babies are examined and treated and usually heal rapidly. families are encouraged to seek chiropractic care in cases where their children: always get colds, have problems digesting foods, and respiratory disorders.

Dr. Rody is concerned that most people aren't aware of the coverage offered by their insurance for these treatments.

1. Medicare offers 100% coverage with 24 visits a year.
2. Medical coupons pay x-rays and up to 20 chiropractic visits a year for participating doctors.
3. Industrial Labor (Accidents on Job) pays 100%.
4. Automobile Insurance pays 100%.
5. Personal Injury (accident in places of business; stores, etc) generally pays 100%.

There are approximately 900 insurance companies covering chiropractic care; Blue Cross, and Aetna to name a few.

Unlike a number of offices, Rody's chiropractic's will call insurance company to determine your coverage and fill out the necessary forms as a courtesy to you.

Office hours are 6 days a week, Monday-Saturday. Half day on Thursdays and Saturdays from 9-12 p.m., and 9:00 A.M - 6:00 p.m. all other days.

MIDDLE EAST BOILS

JERUSALEM - A bomb tore through a crowded bus today, killing at least four passengers and wounding 46 others in the worst terror attack in the Holy City in five years. The Palestine Liberation Organization claimed responsibility for the bombing.

The explosion blew the roof of the bus 100 yards from the vehicle and turned a main Jerusalem thoroughfare into an avenue of blood and mangled bodies.

A Palestinian military spokesman in Tripoli, where Yasser Arafat and rebel forces have been fighting for a month, said a guerrilla unit in the occupied West Bank carried out the attack against what it described as an Israeli military bus.

Israel has warned it will avenge terror attacks against Jews in Israel and abroad.

Syrian forces shot down an Israeli reconnaissance drone plane over Lebanon's Bekaa Valley today and said they destroyed a second pilotless spy plane over southern Syria.

Israel confirmed the loss of one unmanned drone aircraft but denied an official Beirut radio report that a fighter aircraft also had been downed and the pilot captured.

The reported downings came two days after two American planes were shot down during air strikes against Syrian military targets in the Lebanese mountains east of Beirut. An American airman was captured and another killed when their plane was shot down.

News of the latest air action over the Bekaa Valley came as the United States pressed top-secret talks to free the captured U.S. Navy airman, LT. Robert O. Goodman of Virginia Beach, VA Syria refused to give him up until the Marines leave Lebanon.

In New York, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Jeane Kirkpatrick asked U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar for the use of his "good offices" to secure Goodman's release after a public appeal to Syria went unheeded.

The Navy bombadier-navigator was last seen by Lebanese news photographers as he sat in a Syrian Army vehicle, looking scared but apparently healthy.

In Lebanon, the Sunni Moslem militia Morabitun and other Moslem groups demanded the closure of offices, shops and schools in a general strike to protest a car-bomb explosion yesterday in a Moslem West Beirut neighborhood that killed 14 people and wounded 83 others, including many children.

Lebanon has been rocked in the past week by the assassination of a Druze Moslem leader, Israeli and U.S. air strikes in Syrian-held territory and renewed fighting involving the U.S. Marines, as well as an impasse in peace talks.

At the Marine base at the Beirut airport, sldiers filled sandbags to reinforce their positions following a battle hours after the air strike Sunday during which Druze Moslem mortar fire killed eight Marines and wounded two others.

The northern Lebanese port of Tripoli, 42 miles from Beirut, was reported calm following heavy fighting last night that violated the Nov. 25 cease-fire agreement between Palestine Liberation Organization factions.

Guerrillas loyal to PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat, who has agreed to leave Tripoli, were not involved in the fighting between Syrian troops and a pro-Arafat, Lebanese militia, a PLO spokesman said.

Sunday's air strikes against Syrian positions were the biggest conducted by the United States since the Vietnam War and the downing of two jets marked the first American combat losses of fixed-wing aircraft since that conflict.

Meanwhile in Tel Aviv, anti-terrorist security measures have gone into effect around the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv and the American consulates in Jerusalem to guard against retaliatory attacks over U.S. policy in Lebanon.

HAVE YOU BELIEVED OUR REPORT
SERIES # 33
ISAIAH 53: 1 & 2

Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him a tender plant, and as a root out of dry ground.

He hath no form nor comiliness: and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

WORDS OF WISDOM

The fact is there is no biblical proof that Jesus was born the 25th day of December. The biblical fact is ----- his birth took place around the 1st of September or the last of August.

All gifts given at his birth were from the wise men that came to worship him. Heaven rejoiced at his birth and the Angelical CHoir of heaven sang glory unto God. Alleluia-Alleluis unto the newborn King.

The wise men came from the East for one purpose, to see and worship the newborn king. Each presented gifts unto him.

Since shortly after that, the enemy, Satan have come and deceived the masses by presenting an unholy-celebration and worship of his day.

Jeremiah 10:1-4 will let you know how vain the celebration is today.

We can make it a Glorious Celebration through a true workship of him and that day and every other day.

JEREMIAH 10:1-4

HEAR ye the word which the Lord speaketh unto you, O house of Israel:

Thus saith the Lord, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the heathen are dismayed at them.

For the customs of the people are vain: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest, the work of the hands of the workman, with the axe.

They deck it with silver and with gold; they fasten it with nails and with hammers, that it move not.

Cherish Indendence

'The Declaration of Independence heralded the birth of a new nation, conceived in Liberty and dedicated to the proposition that we are all equal. But the "promise of freedom" contained in the Declaration of Independence is only a promise. Promises are often broken-words on parchment, no matter how grand or eloquent, are nevertheless just words. The AMERICAN CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION has, throughout its history, sought to ensure that the written guarantee of liberty has been honored in fact as well as on paper.

"The Constitution", JUSTICE CARDOZO once said, "is not a mere lawyers" document: it is a vehicle of life and its spirits is always the spirit of the age." We (human-kind) would do well to remember that it is the responsibility of each and every citizen to defend the promise of liberty against erosion. In the words of chief Justice Earl Warren, we have a constitution "if we can keep it". The defense of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is the responsibility of us all.

The seniments echoed aboved is very much needed, wanted and desired by the black-prisoners' of Washington State in our struggles to attain self-worth against the arbitrary abuse of prison officials who endeavors to deny and deprive us of all meaningful opportunities to truly alter our past criminal activities toward being responsible, trustworthy, useful, productive and meaningful in our 'transition and readjustment back into our' communities of the State of Washington.

PSALMS 107:1-17

O GIVE thanks unto the Lord, for he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.

Let the redeemed of the Lord say so, whom he hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy;

And gathered them out of the lands, from the east, and from the west, from the north, and from the south.

They wandered inthe wilderness in a solitary way; they found no city to dwell in.

Hungry and thirsty their soul fainted in them

Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he delivered them out of their distresses.

And he led them forth by the right way, that they might go to a city of habitation.

Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!

For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness.

Such as sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron;

Because they rebelled against the words of God, and contemned the counsel of the most High:

Therefore he brought down their heart with labour; they fell down, and there was none to help.

Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he saved them out of their distresses.

He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and brake their hands in sunder.

Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness and for his wonderful works, to the children of men!

For he hath broken the gates of brass, and out of the bars of iron in sunder.

Fools because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities are afflicted.

State Facilities - Job Training Site

A new targeted job-training program utilizing installations and personnel in Washington State will be launched at a Dec. 8th luncheon in Tacoma, Rep. Norm Dicks said Tuesday.

The "Military Facilities Employment Training Project" will be initiated in Washington through a model developed by the National Office of Social Responsibility , a non-profit organization and the state's Department of Employment Security. It will be announced at a combined meeting of the Tacoma Rotary Club and the Tacoma/Pierce County Chamber of Commerce, held at Tacoma's Bicentennial Pavilion. These groups represent a portion of the area's business community that plays a key role in directing the training and in hiring the newly-trained workers.

In addition to the business leaders. Washington Governor John Spellman and military commanders from the state's Army, Air Force and Navy facilities will attend the announcement luncheon.

Military facilities have traditionally hosted summer youth training programs and have occasionally provided year-round job training openings, Rep. Dicks said. But the new program represents an expansion of that concept, using "in-kind" resources to stretch scarce government training funds and reach greater numbers of unemployed persons, he said.

The first trainees in the program will be youths from the juvenile courts in four Western Washington counties, who will begin training at military and national guard installations in Pierce and Kitsap counties.

Volunteers For DSHS

TACOMA-The Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) needs volunteers to work with senior citizens, children, families, and persons who are not fluent in English.

Some volunteers are needed to help senior citizens apply for COPES, a program which helps people stay out of nursing homes by providing home or community-based services. Applicants, who may be unable to leave their homes, need help filling out the application forms, and may also need continuing representation as they move through the system.

Another need is for people who are willing to spend some time working with isolated families not in a therapeutic role, but simply as friends. Volunteers are also needed to transport children to and from visits with their parents, doctors' appointments, and therapy sessions.

Other volunteers are needed to serve as interpreters for non-English speaking people. DSHS is trying to build a network of interpre- in a wide variety of languages who would be available on an "on call" basis.

These are just examples of some of the more pressing needs. DSHS volunteers work with children, senior citizens, disabled people, regugees, and other groups in numerous ways.

Anyone interested in finding out more about becoming a volunteer may do so by calling:

Hints On Free Safety

1. Prior to placing a tree in its stand the butt should be sawn off about an inch from the end to remove the seal which will prevent it from absorbing water.
2. Trees should be placed in stands which hold adequate water.
3. Trees should be placed away from heat vents, radiators, fireplaces, television sets, or other heat sources.
4. For safety reasons candles should never be used on a tree. Electric lights should be examined for frayed or worn cords and turned off when the family retires at night.
5. Combustible decorations should not adorn the tree.
6. If a tree is purchased several days before it will be brought indoors for decoration it should be stored on a cool porch or patio away from wind and sun.

Governor's Challenge Grant To Save Tacoma's Union Station

Governor Spellman today announced a $12,000 challenge grant to the City of Tacoma in an effort to save the city's historic Union Station.

The Governor has directed the state Office of Historic Preservation to make the $12,000 commitment -- on the condition that it be matched with local contributions -- in an attempt to create a workable plan for a public-and-private partnership to restore Union Station and put it to a new use

"Tacoma is a city on-the-move and has made great strides recently in revitalizing its downtown. Entire blocks of downtown buildings are being rehabilitated. There is the completely restored Pantages Theatre, Old City Hall, the Northern Pacific Building, and a new Sheraton Hotel under construction. But there is one problem in downtown Tacoma that has so far defied solution -- but not for lack of trying -- and that is Union Station," the Governor said.

Once the proud symbol of Tacoma's prosperity, Union Station is losing its only tenant (Amtrak) and will soon close. The building does not comply with modern building code requirements, is slowly deteriorating, and will probably be condemned if something isn't done soon to save it.

He applauded the efforts of Tacoma City Councilman Tim Strege and the Burlington Northern to work out an agreement whereby the city could acquire the station at nominal cost.

"It would be a shame for Tacoma to lose Union Station. It is a landmark in the truest sense, a monumental building that has become part of the city's identity. Its grand architecture represents Tacoma's proud heritage in a way no other building can," Governor Spellman said.

FISK TRUSTEES SHOULD QUIT

While I am an avid supporter of Black Colleges, I am also in absolute opposition to any form of incompetence. In a recent article in my magazine on Black higher education, I wrote that some Black colleges, like some White colleges, suffer from incompetent leadership.

More than a year ago, in another article, I called the president of Fisk University "a bridge to the past." He responded by threatening me with legal action and accused my journalism of being responsible for the steady decline in the school's enrollment. All of his legal threats utilized the services of a university staff attorney to defend his private feelings.

My negative opinion of Walter Leonard's Fisk began after a visit to the campus in 1980. At first, after having heard the allegations against the administration, I refused to believe them and accused the student leaders of having overactive imaginations: Charges included not only a police state mentality (intercepted mail and premeditated factors to precipitate the arrest of student leaders), but other unsubstantiated allegations which should not be repeated in polite company.

Until now I have never publicly repeated these charges -- out of fear of providing ammunition for the enemies of Black colleges. But this Fisk University, if the charges are true, deserves extinction.

To even mention the Fisk of the last six years in the same breath with the Fisk of the W.E.B. DuBois, the Fisk of scholarship and integrity, the training ground of some of our most prominent Blacks today and the Fisk of 112 years ago when the children of ex-slaves sang spirituals around the world to raise funds to save the school, is blasphemous -- at best.

Although the school, founded in 1866, survived racist bombings and a previous financial crisis in 1871 when the Jubilee Singers hit the road, it may not survive the deplorable events of the present.

It became so bad that last year the faculty gave Fisk's president Walter Leonard a vote of no confidence, citing a lack of leadership. That was an understatement if ever there were one.

Fisk has a $2.7 million debt, almost matching its entire, but dwindling, endowment of $3 million. That includes a $170,000 gas bill which has led to the school's heat being turned off. Fisk has an overdue gas bill of $157,000 and a $140,000 deficit for sewage services. There has not even been a payment on some obligations since the Spring. Moreover, the Internal Revenue Service is demanding more than $500,000 in back payroll taxes.

The only bright spot in all of this is Walter Leonard's resignation, but he cannot be held accountable or responsible for everything unfavorable at Fisk. Leonard is a former affirmative action officer at Harvard. Fisk's board of trustees was obviously impressed with "Harvard" and all of the White mythology it represents when choosing him to lead the school. It appears that the Fisk board got exactly what it deserved.

The inevitable conclusion is that the Fisk University Board of Trustees should also resign -- en masse. Even after the 600 students were trapped in heatless dormitories and classrooms, payless paydays and the faculty had rejected Leonard's leadership, the trustees appointed him to a new role as fund raiser (Richard Pryor should incorporate this scenario into his routine).

It took potential benefactors "who evidently didn't like something about Dr. Leonard," the New York Times reported, to get the message to them. Leonard is reported as saying that he had been told that persons "of influence and wealth" would aid the school only if he quit.

Leonard's major contribution to Black higher education was his resignation at Fisk. The resignation at Fisk. The trustees should also make a similar contribution.

DIET FACTS & FALLACIES

YOUR DIET VERSUS YOUR HEALTH!

One of the greatest controversies that exists today concerns the effect of diet and disease. While diet is considered a contributing factor to heart disease, its role in cancer and other illnesses is still being debated.

In an effort to educate the public, the USDA published the "Dietary Guidelines for Americans." These recommendations were designed to alert the public to dietary changes that could improve nutritional eating and, subsequently, health. These guidelines stated:

1. Eat a variety of foods.
2. Maintain ideal weight.
3. Avoid too much fat, saturated fat, and cholesterol.
4. Eat foods with adequate starch and fiber.

5. Avoid too much sugar.
6. Avoid too much sodium.
7. If you drink alcohol, do so in moderation.

Diet Center believes there is a direct relationship between diet and disease. Diet Center also supports "The Dietary Guidelines" as a blueprint you can follow for achieving a healthful lifestyle.

THE ECONOMIC RECOVERY

The economy appeaars to be moving out of the depths of Depression, and virtually all commentators are heralding the return of good times.

But such optimism is unwarranted. That's because a cyclical recovery from a deep economic slide doesn't address the structural problems in the economy that continue to be troubling.

Another important reason is that a broad, overall recovery may mean an improvement in some key economic indicators but it masks that fact that many millions, especially blacks and browns, don't participate in the recovery.

In fact, the best that can be said is that if the recovery continues the Depression in the minority community will only improve to recession levels.

After the deep recession of the mid-seventies it took a long time for blacks to recover, and even then black employment and poverty figures remained at historically high levels.

In fact, an Urban League study at the time indicated that black men had not returned to their pre-recession employment levels in private industry, even at a time when the recovery had entered its peak phase.

While the decline in the unemployment rate is long overdue and to be welcomed, we still have to understand that statistics don't always reflect reality.

For example, although the overall unemployment rate is down that doesn't mean there is less unemployment. The unemployment rate measures joblessness among people in the labor force. The government counts as employed many millions who work part-time when they really want full-time jobs. And discouraged workers who have given up hope of finding jobs are not counted as being in the labor force.

So when the unemployment rate goes down, it often simply means that many people have dropped out of the labor force. The recent drop in the unemployment rate indicates that some new jobs have become available, but it also tells us that many people whose extended unemployment benefits have run out and many who have dropped out of the job market are no longer being counted.

It is dangerous for policy-makers to become fixated on the flawed unemployment rate statistic, for it does not really reasure total unemployment. In the course of a year there will be well over twice as many people experiencing some jobless spell as there are unemployed people in any given month.

Last year, while the monthly figures were telling us that eleven million people were unemployed, the total of those who were jobless for some time during the year was well over 26 million. And that's using the official labor force definition, not including the millions of uncounted unemployed.

Also troubling is the black-white differential in employment. In a recovery, white unemployment goes down fairly quickly while black unemployment, after a period of stability, begins to drift down slowly.

This is an example of the way each successive recession leaves blacks further behind. It is hard to get enthusiastic about an economic recovery that does not touch the people most in need of recovery.

At the height of the recovery period, smokestack industries that had been shutting plants down usually begin rehiring workers. That may happen again, but at the same time those industries are investing heavily in labor-saving technology.

That suggests their work force levels will not return to pre-recession levels, even if business picks up. It also suggests that black workers, disproportionately concentrated in those industries, will continue to be jobless, whether counted as such or not.

All of this is not to write off the significance of the recovery. It is good to have higher gross national product, higher profits, and higher employment figures.

But to wallow in the normal signposts of the cyclical upturn and ignore the continuing economic problems that relegate millions of people to joblessness and to the margins of the economy would be a terrible mistake.

It would be wrong in human terms, given the tremendous amount of suffering that continues. And it would be wrong in policy terms, since it would encourage continued wastatge of human capital that is the strength of our economy.

Health Care

In this era of skyrocketing health care costs, the Washington State Legislature has passed a new law to help contain costs and assure efficient delivery of health care services.

The Mental Health Insurance Act, which became effective July 1, 1983, requires optional coverage for mental health treatment for all persons covered under the terms of group health contracts. The law also requires employers who choose not to provide mental health coverage for their employees to notify their insurance carriers of their decision in writing. A noteworthy change as a result of the law is that mental health benefits must apply when treatment is rendered by a licensed community mental health clinic.

The Washington State Insurance Commissioner has been charged with monitoring compliance with the new law, and for approving the terms of the mental health coverage offered by insurers.

In passing this new law, the State of Washington has joined a growing national trend toward increased insurance coverage for mental health treatment. Currently, fourteen states require mandatory insurance coverage for mental health treatment and an additional twelve states have passed legislation calling for mendatory offering of mental health coverage by insurance carriers.

One Day Strike

A one day strike action has been called by the national organization, Women Strike For Peace (WSP) and its local affiliate, Seattle Women Act For Peace (SWAP) for December 12 to protest the deployment of first strike missiles in Europe (Pershing 2 and Cruise missiles) and against war everywhere.

December 12 was chosen for the action because it s the anniversary date of the NATO "Two Track" decision (12/12/79) which called for deployment of the Cruise and the Pershing 2 predicated on meaningful arms reduction negotiations, and which has ended in the negotiations' failure. (The U.S. went ahead with deployment of Cruise missiles in England and Pershing 2s in West Germany, and the U.S.S.R. walked out of the Geneva talks, deserting negotiations indefinitely.)

In areas where congressional offices are not easily accessible, people are called upon to visit local elected officials, the mayor, city and county council, etc.

The Dec. 12 Strike for Peace will coincide with similar actions through-out the United States.

Pamela Bohrer of Issaquah and Debra Armstrong of Richland, both Pacific Lutheran University seniors, have been awarded the prestigious Allenmore Foundations Scholarship.

The $5,000 stipend is awarded to college seniors planning to attend medical school.

This is the sixth year that the scholarship has been awarded, but the first time there have been two awards, according to PLU health sciences coordinator Dr. Jerry Lerum.

SAVING BABIES...

Recording star Evelyn King:

There is no greater joy than to have a healthy, beautiful baby. But not all babies are so fortunate — 250,000 infants are born with physical or mental birth defects each year. The March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation works to save babies.

K Street District Association

The K Street District Association, formerly K Street Booster Club, held its first formal business meeting, Thursday, December 1, 1983, at Browne's, 1114 So. K Street.

The organization is more than fifty years old and had not undergone any documental changes until last week when the members voted in a new list of by-laws. Uppermost was the new name change. The rational for it was to create a new and more profound image within the community. Association as opposed to Club is indicative of a more organized group whereas "Club" tends to connotate a more social gathering.

President, Mike Salatino said, "We are in the process of re-organizing the group which will consist of more than 120 businesses by the time we're done."

The goals of the K Steet District Association include revitalizing K Street and those merchant within its boundaries; From North to South- 23rd Street to Division, and East to West- incorporates the areas from Yakima to Sprague. These areas have been neglected due to the development of Shopping Malls. It is hoped that with community support this will be a better place in which to live, work, and play.

The organization was at one time one of the most dynamic lobbying groups in the whole of Tacoma. Salatino said, "we hope to regain the kind of political clout it once had.

The officers are: President- Mike Salatino, Vice-President- Jerry Paulson, Secretary- Bob Penton, and Treaurer- Dennis O'Dell.

The meetings are scheduled for every 4th Thursday with the next meeting commencing Thursday, December 22, 1983.

Those interested in joining may note that dues are computed at $25 a year.

Lombard suggested the organization employ a marketing service prior to moving into extensive advertising. She assured that a marketing analysis would give the overall forecast needed to take on the kind of task prescribed in the goals of the Association.

Computer Helps Kids On Food Choices

Students hungry for knowledge can satisfy their appetities with GRAB-A-BYTE, a new nutrition education computer program introduced by Washington State Dairy Council.

The three-part program is aimed at young scholars in grades 7-9. It offers students a triple helping of nutrition facts that will help them make wise food choices in the school lunch line, at home or at a restaurant.

GRAB-A-BYTE uses a fun format to stress the importance of good nutrition, "said Mary Rowland, Executive Director of the Washington State Dairy Council "Kids can learn everything from the nutrient value of what they ate for breakfast, to how a balanced diet can help protect their future good health."

Value Change Notices

Sheldon K. Cook, Pierce County Assessor-Treasurer, announced today that the 1984 county-wide revaluation program is proceeding on schedule. Physical inspections in the Gig Harbor-Longbranch Peninsula areas (Peninsula School District) are approximately 50 percent done with a tentative completion date of February 29. The remainder of the county is being revalued based on some physical inspections, but mainly on building and land characteristics as stored in the County computer system and updated by the same cost factors as those properties physically inspected.

Value Change Notices have already been mailed to owners of properties in the Dieringer, Orting, White River, Carbonado, Eatonville and Thurston County (South of Roy) School Districts. Property owners in these districts should contact the Assessor-Treasurer's Office if they have not yet received their Notice. Should any taxpayer feel the Notice sent exceeds the fair market value of the property, he may request a review of the appraisal. Additional appeal rights are explained on the back of the Notice.

The current revaluation will affect the assessed values for 1985 taxes.

Campaign For Holiday Safety

State Sen. Ted Haley, (R-Lakewood), today announced his support for a holiday-season, anti-drunk driving campaign recently unveiled by Governor John Spellman.

The campaign, a cooperative effort between the Washington Traffic Safety Commission and the state Liquor Control Board, will focus on the fact that drinking-related deaths and injuries were significantly reduced during last year's holiday season, as a result of the highly visible and vocal efforts of concerned Washingtonians. The theme for the campaign if "You Did It Once...You Can Do It Again!"

One component of the campaign is the highly successful "I Am the Driver" program, which encourages those planning holiday events to designate a non-drinker who will act as driver for the drinking members of the group. Materials for the "I Am the Driver" program include stickers, booklets, host letters, tips for successful parties and party-packet envelopes. These materials are available from the Washington Traffic Safety Commission, 1000 South Cherry St., Olympia, WA 98504, or from state liquor stores and driver-examining offices.

Racial Slurs Prohibited

The use of racial slurs by on-duty firefight- will be treated as disorderly conduct and subject to disciplinary penalties, under the terms of an agreement between the Seattle Fire Department and the State, according to Attorney General Ken Kikenberry.

Kikenberry said the agreement ends an action his office brought for the State Human Rights Commission on behalf of Thomas E. Bell, a former firefighter.

Under the agreement, any racial slur will be considered disorderly conduct-minor, and if it is directed at an individual, it will be treated as disorderly conduct-major.

The settlement is not an adjudication of any of the charges, nor is it an admission of wrongdoing.

The commission had charged the department with creating a discriminatory work environment for Bell and other black firefighters by permitting the use of racial epithets.

The commission also had charged the department with discrimination in the application of disciplinary rules when Bell lost his temper during arguments with co-workers.

The department, represented by Assistant City Attorney Rod P. Kaseguma, denied the charges.

Assistant Attorney General Winslow Whitman represented the commission. Bell was represented by Paul A.Wallstrom.
